Subject: CWCN Spring Provider Training Flyer: Working with Children with Complex Needs: Understanding How Implementation Science and Practice May Improve Agency and Clinical Outcomes

CWCN SPRING PROVIDER TRAINING FLYER

The ImpactCenter at UNC's Frank Porter Graham Child Development Institute is offering two adult learning sessions designed for behavioral health providers serving Children with Complex Needs. Participants will learn about foundational concepts of implementation science and how effective implementation practices support people, agencies, and systems who serve North Carolina's children and families. In addition, opportunities for interactive discussion and applied learning will be offered to explore how implementation best practices can be applied in day-to-day work and roles for improved outcomes. See flyer and registration link below.
