An important reminder

Hurricane Season began June 1 and ends November 30. To make sure you are ready now, not when a storm arrives in our region, start making your plan by visiting Ready.gov.

Red Cross recommends building two kits (a stay at home kit and an evacuation kit). Learn more about what should be included in your kits by visiting the Red Cross and Ready.gov. Extra considerations may be needed when preparing a kit for an individual with a disability and information can be found at Ready.gov/Disability.

All kits should include a one-month supply of medications and over the counter medications. A starter list for a kit includes: water and food, first aid kit, copies of important documents like passports, flashlight and batteries, hand sanitizer, and a face mask. Pack important documents such as financial, insurance, medical and other personal records.

Stay informed about COVID-19 during hurricane season by visiting CDC. American Sign Language videos can be found on CDC and ReadyNC. The North Carolina Department of Public Safety website has live stream news conferences available in Spanish and American Sign Language. Download the FEMA app on your phone for hurricane updates.

Do you Know Your Zone?

In the event of an evacuation, it is important to Know Your Zone. This online tool helps to identify areas that are at the most risk for storm surge and flooding. Visit ncdps.gov/KnowYourZone to find your assigned zone and additional evacuation information.

1. Local governments in 20 North Carolina coastal counties have drawn predetermined evacuation zones to help streamline evacuation processes.
2. Local officials will determine which zones should be evacuated. Areas in Zone A will typically be evacuated first, followed by areas in Zone B, C, D, etc.
3. Share with your neighbors in person and on social media using their provided tools; the more people who know their zone, the smoother the evacuation process becomes.

In addition to knowing your zone, your county's Emergency Manager will work with local media to communicate evacuation instructions. Locate Emergency Shelters and register for alerts from your local government by visiting ReadyNC. Evacuation recommendations include securing your home and having your hurricane kits ready for use. Resources for protecting your home can be found on ReadyNC.
