What is happening?

- Victory Junction, North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services (NCDHHS), and Trillium Health Resources are launching a Henry's House Program, a year-round respite program at Victory Junction in Randleman, NC, for children ages 6 to 16 who are living with medical and physical needs, chronic health conditions, intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD), Autism, and Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI).
- NCDHHS and Trillium Health Resources are investing $3.9 million:
  - $1,516,000 from NCDHHS, through its Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Use Services and the Division of Child and Family Well-Being
  - $2,400,000 from Trillium Health Resources
- Victory Junction will integrate respite services into its existing year-round programming in 2026.

How will the funding be used?

- Victory Junction will hire and train staff, including medical professionals who will deliver and oversee the success of program.
- To house children overnight in a medically safe and physically adapted space.

How will the respite services be delivered?

- Children will enjoy fun and exhilarating Camp activities at Victory Junction through existing programming while their parents/caregivers are provided respite. Key program features will include:
  - Home-like, fully accessible lodging for overnight stays
  - Specialized programming tailored to children with I/DD, Autism, and TBI
  - Onsite medical support and trained respite care teams
  - Activities that foster independence, friendship, and play
  - A safe, inclusive space for exploration and social growth

How many children and families/caregivers will benefit?

- Henry's House Program will provide over 150 annual respite experiences each year, complementing Victory Junction's year-round programming which already serves 800 children and families/caregivers each summer, 250 in spring, and 300 in fall.

Why are respite services important?

- For parents/caregivers, respite services can reduce stress and anxiety, prevent burnout, and support mental and physical well-being by allowing time for rest, and personal care. These breaks can improve sleep, lower the risk of health issues, and reduce feelings of isolation and depression.

- For children, respite services offer social interaction, mental stimulation, and can increase courage and independence which contributes to positive emotional and health outcomes.

Will the program alter existing Victory Junction programming?

- No. Existing year-round programming which includes spring and fall weekends, weekly summer camps, partner programs, and hospital/clinic outreach will remain unchanged. Henry's House will be offered throughout the year during traditional programming and during Trillium Health Resources partner weekends.
- All experiences at Victory Junction will continue to be offered at no cost to families – including Henry's House Program respite opportunities.

How will the impact of the program be measured?

- Participation Metrics: Number of children, families, and caregivers served, diagnoses, and location demographics
- Quality & Performance: Internal reviews and assessments of key service indicators
- Stories: Testimonials from participating children, families, and caregivers

Why is it called Henry's House Program?

- Trillium has named the program in honor of a young boy named Henry, whose resilience inspires support for children living with complex needs and their families/caregivers.
- This marks the second Henry's House Program funded by Trillium Health Resources, following a similar respite program announced in June 2025 with Easterseals PORT Health in Burgaw, N.C.

Has Victory Junction previously partnered with Trillium Health Resources?

- Yes. Victory Junction has partnered with Trillium Health Resources since 2019 to provide spring and fall weekend programming. Henry's House builds off this strong partnership to provide children, families, and caregivers respite services throughout the year.

Is this funding tied to NC or Federal Medicaid programming?

- Yes. The funding for this program is available through the bonus NC received for Medicaid expansion and funding that Trillium made available to close this care gap for members of Trillium Health plan.

Is Victory Junction managing the delivery of a Medicaid service?

- These services will serve all children in a value-based payment arrangement between Trillium as a Health plan for children with IDD, Autism and TBI who are funded by Medicaid, Medicaid waivers, and state dollars for the uninsured and underinsured. Victory Junction is not a Medicaid provider and does not provide billable Medicaid services.
