Trillium receives Innovation Award in Technology Awards presented by the i2i Center for Integrative Health

GREENVILLE, NC- Trillium Health Resources was recognized in the Technology category for the 2019 Innovation Awards. Promoted by the i2i Center for Integrative Health, the awards recognize innovation in services and programming to increase integrated, whole person approaches to care. Trillium's www.SafeSchoolsHealthyKidsNC.org online platform was acknowledged for the award and offers free training to school staff and parents.

After receiving over 800 survey responses from school personnel on potentially useful topics, Trillium staff developed curriculum that is easy to understand with direct signs to be aware of. Specific programs and tip sheets available include:

- The Trevor Project (safe, confidential lifeline for LGBTQ young people)
- Red Flags for School Shootings
- Signs of Substance Abuse

We recently shared about an incentive program to help promote the platform to schools, parents, and the public. Please visit https://youtu.be/Rpz_PbYxkFU for a short video that describes the website.

Trillium also nominated Ainsley's Angels of Eastern North Carolina who received the award in the Individual and Family Initiatives category-- programs or services led by individuals and/or family members to improve the lives of those served in the public behavioral health and I/DD system.
